Grestec Tiles Product Launch 'Rada' and Islington Studio Open

At this year's London Design Festival Grestec will showcase its new contemporary porcelain tile collection, Rada. Rada embodies sophistication and simplicity, whilst replicating the pure aesthetics of natural stone. Available in six neutral colours, twelve sizes, and an external 20mm thick option; Rada ensures a complete collection ideal for seamless interior and exterior design, and suitability in almost all commercial situations.

Throughout the duration of the London Design Festival, September 20-24, Grestec will welcome architects, designers, and specifiers to its Islington studio to showcase the launch of its new range 'Rada', with the opportunity for visitors to also discover Grestec's expansive tile collection held in its London Studio. Grestec will additionally open for an exclusive late-night event on Wednesday September 22 for pre-drinks, in collaboration with neighbouring BDC showrooms to celebrate the event. No ticket required.
