

Infinito

An exceptional work of art, as unique as the marble from which it takes shape: the Infinito table, designed by Roberto Lazzeroni, has been produced by Poltrona Frau in limited quantities.

Derived from a unique block of marble, the Infinito table is a masterpiece of nature. After discovering this single slab, Poltrona Frau asked the designer Roberto Lazzeroni, a long-time collaborator, to design an object of great impact that would celebrate and transform this rare material into a treasured piece. Inspired by the beauty and uniqueness of the material, the designer created Infinito, a table-sculpture with an amazing scenic presence. A work of art, not just a design object, Infinito cannot be replicated and has been produced in a limited, numbered and signed amount.

It all starts with the material: Rosso Lepanto marble, named for its tones ranging from red to dark red to purple and embellished with white streaks that sometimes resemble onyx. Due to some unknown and inexplicable natural event, a confined section of mountain took on a deep sage tone with shades of darker green, crossed by the typical clear veining as well as some small reddish inclusions of the original colour - an unrepeatable phenomenon.

Striving to take full advantage of the surface of the slabs obtained from this block, Lazzeroni designed a large top with rounded lines that exalts the beauty of the veined green, from its brighter tones to its more subtle nuances. Each table therefore features a unique coloration and texture. The offset, double-oval shape in part recalls the complementary shapes of yin and yang, and in part resembles an overturned "8", the symbol of endless perfection and prosperity: hence the evocative name, Infinito.

The base of the table was designed as a pedestal to this work of art. It was inspired by the columns of classical statues and is made of precious white Carrara marble. Used by sculptors since antiquity, this precious, eternal material is highly valued worldwide. Each foot is carved from a single block of marble, but the result is anything but heavy: Lazzeroni mimics the shape of a tree opening outwards with its "branches", expressing lightness and dynamism, further enhancing the table's elegance and strong sculptural value.

Infinito is available in two distinct styles, both limited in quantity. The first variation, a large, double-oval shaped table (340x120 cm) supported by two legs, was crafted only eight times. In this larger version, a stainless steel blade crosses the tabletop, serving as a trait d'union of the two oval surfaces. The second variation features an oval top with a single base, comprising the other 64 pieces in the series.

(220x124 cm). Given the exceptional nature of the material, the Infinito series can never be replicated. A brass plate with Ruthenium finish bearing the Poltrona Frau logo and the series number of each copy can be found in the centre of the table below the top.

With Infinito, the table-object d'art that has no equals, even within its own production, Poltrona Frau showcases the real meaning of contemporary luxury. A luxury that can only come from materials of absolute quality, from profound design that is both original and respectful of the raw material, and from unrivalled handicraft and productive skill. A work of art to be admired, to live with, and to appreciate every day. This is Infinito.