

slowform presents Rest, a new tray collection, at London Design Festival 2026

Developed with Danish craftsman Mathias Rasmussen of MSSR Works, Rest will be presented at Café Vins in Soho alongside slowform's Japanese porcelain coffeeware and garments including the Panel T-shirt developed with John Pawson.

Rest 01 + Rest 02

For London Design Festival 2026, slowform presents Rest and a selection of garments and objects at Café Vins.

At the centre of the presentation is Rest, a new collection of stackable trays developed with Danish craftsman Mathias Rasmussen of MSSR Works. Rest 01 and Rest 02 feature one and two recessed placements respectively, designed for serving coffee and tea or holding everyday objects, with each recess precisely shaped for a slowform cup.

MSSR Works includes projects with Dinesen and John Pawson, bringing a close understanding of material, furniture and architectural making to the development of the collection.

Rest will be shown alongside slowform's Japanese porcelain coffeeware and garments including the T-shirt developed with British architect John Pawson.

Presented within Café Vins' Dinesen-lined space, the collection will sit alongside the café's coffee and publications. The collaboration grew from a shared interest in special materials and considered spaces, with Café Vins' use of Dinesen wood providing a natural context for slowform's new Rest collection.

Together, the setting creates a space in which slowform's work can be encountered in use rather than as a conventional retail display.

Across the four days, a small programme of coffee, conversation and sound will accompany the presentation. All pieces will be available to purchase or pre-order.

ABOUT SLOWFORM

slowform is a design house creating garments and objects for the practice of daily life. Founded in 2025, its collection moves between clothing and home, working with specialist workshops and makers chosen for their mastery of material and process.
