

Truman Brewery: Upmarket Joins London Design Festival with Design & Craft Weekend

Upmarket at The Truman Brewery is proud to partner with the London Design Festival (LDF) to present its Design & Craft Weekend on Saturday 13th and Sunday 14th September. Entry is free, inviting visitors to explore a unique celebration of creativity and craftsmanship in the heart of East London.

The weekend will showcase an inspiring selection of ceramics, prints, jewellery, art, clothing, and more. All proudly presented by talented independent makers from London and beyond. From one-of-a-kind handmade treasures to contemporary design pieces, the Design & Craft Weekend promises an unforgettable experience for design enthusiasts and curious visitors alike.

"We are thrilled to once again be part of the London Design Festival this year," says the Upmarket Team. "The Design & Craft Weekend is about shining a spotlight on independent creativity; bringing together makers and visitors in one of East London's most vibrant cultural spaces."

Housed within the iconic Truman Brewery; once London's largest brewery and now a thriving hub of innovation, the event offers more than just design. Visitors can also discover the Brewery's eclectic mix of independent shops, cafes, galleries, markets, and street food, alongside its versatile event spaces and buzzing cultural scene.

Event Details:

- What: Design & Craft Weekend
- When: Saturday 13th & Sunday 14th September
- Where: Upmarket, The Truman Brewery, East London
- Admission: Free

With its rich history and modern transformation, The Truman Brewery provides the perfect backdrop to celebrate design and craft in all its forms.

