STONELINE GALLERY LAUNCH

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
LONDON, AUG 26

The Mayfair experience centre opens to the design community from 12-20 September for a nine day London Design Festival program including a TF Chan hosted panel, daily design breakfasts, a makers showcase and specification masterclasses in natural stone and bespoke Palezzo.

Stoneline & Palezzo will formally introduce its 132 Wigmore Street experience centre and gallery to London's creative community during London Design Festival 2026 (12-20 September), with a nine-day programme of exhibitions, talks, breakfasts and specification masterclasses. Set within a former 1890s piano showroom stripped back to its original fabric, the two-floor Mayfair space makes its public debut as a destination where material, craftsmanship and creativity take centre stage.

The international material and design company founded in Istanbul in 1997 and specialising in exceptional natural stone and bespoke artisanal terrazzo, opened the doors of 132 Wigmore Street earlier in 2026. The Festival marks the beginning of its long-term commitment to creating a place where designers, architects and makers can meet, exchange ideas and specify materials in the heart of Mayfair. The ground-floor gallery explores craftsmanship through a curated collection of bespoke and one-off lifestyle objects, while the lower-ground floor serves as a dedicated specification centre for the company's collection of natural stone and bespoke Palezzo.

"132 Wigmore Street was always intended to be more than a showroom. London Design Festival is the moment we open the doors properly - inviting designers, architects and makers into the space to see, touch and specify the materials, and to begin the conversations we want to have here for years to come. Everything in the programme, from a morning coffee to a specification masterclass, is about building a genuine home for material and craft in Mayfair."
