

Bill Amberg Studio: A Journey into Contemporary Leather Craft at Bill Amberg Studio

Bringing together artisans from the worlds of saddlery, case-making, bookbinding and other forms of fine leathercraft, Bill Amberg Studio has become an industry leader in bespoke leather products, thanks to its 40 plus-year mission to explore the aesthetic and material possibilities of leather. Their work runs the gamut from bespoke furniture through to interiors for private residences, commercial projects and cultural institutions around the globe. With a client and collaborator list including some of the world's top architects, designers and brands, recent projects include leather work for the Ellison Institute and triptych of designs for Balvenie fine Whiskys.

Enjoy an interactive insight into contemporary leather craftsmanship at Bill Amberg Studio, exploring the specialist skills, innovative uses of leather and bespoke projects developed by the studio, from fine leather furniture to experimental applications. Visitors will also have the opportunity to discover the Stack collection, a series of tables that transform hundreds of leather offcuts from the studio's projects into a dense, structural and richly tactile material, while learning more about the materials, techniques and processes behind the studio's work.
